PROGRAM OVERVIEW

As treatment options for cancer patients expand, it is essential that healthcare professionals understand the impact on the patient's quality of life. This learning activity sets to explain recent innovations in cancer care, foster collaboration among a multidisciplinary team, and promote quality of life.

The following are the objectives of this program:

- » Discuss recent innovations in cancer care
- » Identify measures to improve the cancer patient's quality of life
- » Evaluate expanding options in cancer care

TARGET AUDIENCE/ WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The program will benefit physicians, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses, residents, and other clinicians that are involved in the diagnosis, treatment, and support of cancer patients.

ABOUT CAPITAL HEALTH CANCER CENTER

Capital Health Cancer Center, located in Central New Jersey at the state-of-the-art Capital Health Medical Center – Hopewell in Pennington, NJ, combines vast medical expertise with advanced technology in an environment that was designed to promote healing and comfort for patients and caregivers. At our center, a team of physicians from related fields such as medical oncology, radiation oncology, gynecological oncology, neurosurgical oncology, hepato-pancreato-biliary surgery, interventional GI, radiology and pulmonology, breast surgery, orthopaedic oncology, radiology, plastic and reconstructive surgery, urologic surgery, colorectal surgery, thoracic surgery and other specialties collaborate and provide patients with a network of physicians trained in the most complex oncology issues.

FEATURING KEYNOTE SPEAKER

WALTER J. CURRAN, JR., MD, FACR, FASCO
Executive Director, Winship Cancer Institute of Emory University

Lawrence W. Davis Professor and Chairman,
Emory Department of Radiation Oncology
Group Chairman, NRG Oncology

Georgia Research Alliance Eminent Scholar and Chair in Cancer Research

Dr. Walter J. Curran, Jr. is the executive director of the Winship Cancer Institute of Emory University, the first and only National Cancer Institute-designated comprehensive cancer center in the state of Georgia. He also serves as the Lawrence W. Davis Professor and Chairman at Emory's Department of Radiation Oncology. Dr. Curran has been a principal investigator on many National Cancer Institute (NCI) grants and is considered an international expert in the management of patients with locally advanced lung cancer and malignant brain tumors. He currently serves as a group chairman and a principal investigator of NRG Oncology, the largest of the five National Cancer Institute-funded clinical trials network group.

Activity Director

CATALDO DORIA, MD, PHD, MBA, FACS
Medical Director, Capital Health Cancer Center
Director, Capital Health Robotic Center of Excellence

As medical director of the Capital Health Cancer Center, Dr. Cataldo Doria oversees clinical operations including disease specific clinical performance groups, clinical research, and cancer care advancements to ensure widespread access to the best possible patient care and outcomes. As a hepato-pancreato-biliary surgeon focused on treating benign digestive conditions and cancers in the liver, pancreas and bile duct, Dr. Doria has pioneered new techniques for conditions that were once considered untreatable. He has helped develop and introduce a number of innovative procedures to treat cancer patients that were not previously available, including bloodless liver surgery, liver auto-transplantation and robotic-assisted hepato-pancreato-biliary surgery.
